Summary

Attachment B governs exclusively the safeguards applying to the single minor identified in the instance: representation, signatures, accompanied arrangements or — from age sixteen and subject to verification — arrangements without continuous accompaniment, safety, coverage, and handover. It grants no accommodation, stay, or other real-estate right, constitutes no lease, gratuitous loan for use, or hospitality arrangement, and replaces none of the separate instruments required. Any work, educational, creative, or promotional activity also requires its own written framework and the applicable mandatory checks.

Binding Vocabulary of the Attachment

The contractual terms below apply solely to delimit this Attachment. Terms already defined by law or by the Principal Document retain the meaning arising from the applicable source and are not redefined.

Term	Applicable definition
Author Aged Sixteen or Over	A Minor who has reached sixteen and created a work of authorship. Under Art. 108 of Law no. 633 of 22 April 1941, that person has the special capacity to perform legal acts relating to works they created and to bring the resulting actions. This capacity is limited to that subject matter and does not confer general contractual capacity.
Principal Minor	A contractual term indicating the Minor identified as the principal person in the Principal Document and to whom the specific documentary package relates. It does not mean that the Minor may validly undertake alone obligations requiring legal representation.
Minor Subject of the Instance	The sole Minor identified in the configuration of this Attachment B instance. If the dossier involves more than one Minor, a separate, fully configured instance must be generated for each person; cumulative lists or generic references do not extend authorization from one Minor to another.
Minor's Legal Representative	The parent exercising Parental Responsibility, the guardian appointed under Art. 357 of the Italian Civil Code, or another person holding powers sufficient for the individual act under law or an order of the competent authority. Kinship, cohabitation, accompaniment, factual care, payment, or informal delegation does not by itself confer legal representation.
Adult Subscriber	The Minor's Legal Representative whose identification details are stated as the Signatory's details in the Principal Document and its Sign1 Form. This person executes the package in the permitted representative capacity and in their own name for the economic, organizational, compensatory, and intervention obligations expressly imposed upon them. Formal issuance to the adult does not grant that adult the personal access or stay rights configured for the Principal Minor.
Signatory in the Minor Package	An expression interpreted according to the function of each clause. For access, presence, conduct, personal restrictions, keys, spaces, and activities physically carried out on site, it means the Principal Minor. For the subscriber's identity, contractual consent, representation, adult declarations, deposit, payments, reimbursement solely of validly attributable costs, compensation, availability, intervention, and Taking Charge, it means the Adult Subscriber. In case of doubt, no patrimonial obligation is transferred to the Minor and no personal right intended for the Minor is transferred to the adult.
Accompanying Adult	The adult previously identified, designated in writing by the Minor's Legal Representative, and accepted by the Company for physical accompaniment. This is an organizational role and transfers no Parental Responsibility, legal representation, foster status, or authority to amend the package.
Accompanied Minor	The Minor admitted only with the physical presence and continuous accompaniment of the Accompanying Adult under the configured arrangement. The adult's presence does not reduce prohibitions, safeguards, or documentary requirements.
Authorized Stay without Continuous Accompaniment	A contractual term for an operational arrangement without continuous accompaniment, activatable only where a separate lawful basis exists for access or any presence. It grants no accommodation, overnight stay, or real-estate enjoyment and does not constitute emancipation, entrustment to the Company, recognition of contractual capacity, or waiver of the duties of the Minor's Legal Representative.
Taking Charge	The physical intervention by which the Minor's Legal Representative or a validly authorized adult resumes direct control of the Minor and arranges safe departure or return. It is not equivalent to a statutory foster-care arrangement.

Sign1 Form

The signature form designated for the Principal Document and its attachments. Under the Principal Minor regime, a separate Sign1 is produced for each adult whose signature is legally required. The Minor's copy normally has its own Sign1; only where age or a concrete inability prevents meaningful acknowledgement may the exceptional substitute path governed by this attachment be activated. The Dsan1B declaration embedded in each adult copy has no autonomous signature line.

Authorized Personnel

Any representative, employee, appointee, or collaborator whom the Company has authorized to issue safety orders or restrict access. That capacity does not by itself entail custody, accompaniment, or entrustment of the Minor.

Art. B1 - Scope, Age and Representation

B1.1 Minority condition

This attachment governs the special regime applicable where the principal person has not yet reached eighteen years of age on the first date on which the package produces effects, or where the package authorizes the presence of another minor. Majority and general capacity to act are acquired upon reaching eighteen years of age under Art. 2 of the Italian Civil Code; any special capacity provided by law for individual acts does not make the minor a fully capable contracting party for the entire relationship.

The first relevant date is the earliest among a signature producing immediate effects, scheduled arrival, delivery of keys or credentials, first access, and actual start of the stay. If signature precedes entry but already grants rights, powers, or obligations, age is also assessed on the signature date. If the package is signed after entry, the first-access date remains relevant and any earlier entry without correct documentation constitutes an irregularity to be remedied without delay.

If no minor is involved, this attachment must not be included, transmitted, signed, or listed in the package. If a minor is involved, omission of this attachment prevents the package from becoming operational and may not be cured by informal authorizations, payments, material deliveries, or tolerated conduct.

Each instance of this attachment concerns one Minor only. Where the dossier involves more than one Minor, each person must have a separate AllB instance, complete configuration, linked copies, and required Sign1 forms. The clarification field may list only the codes of other linked instances and non-sensitive organizational information; it may not contain cumulative identities, health data, or a collective authorization.

This attachment neither constitutes nor evidences a lease, gratuitous loan for use, hospitality contract, delivery of real estate, or other personal right of enjoyment. It grants no availability, possession, or qualified detention of premises and does not alter any form, registration, or notification duties applicable to a separate instrument.

B1.2 Identification and date of birth

The minor's date and place of birth are mandatory elements. They must appear in the configuration, signature forms, and a valid identity document or another legally suitable source. They may also be declared within the limits of Art. 46(1)(a), (f), (h), and (u) of Presidential Decree no. 445 of 28 December 2000. The declaration does not replace a document or order required where the law or the Company requires further verification.

The package may not be concluded or activated with an undefined age. If the date of birth, identity, or document is missing, expired, unreadable, or inconsistent, signature must be suspended and all access denied until regularization. The Company may require inspection of the original, a copy acquired through a protected channel, or direct verification; it must not retain copies beyond the time and purpose strictly necessary.

The Principal Minor's personal, identification, and contact data are stated exclusively in this attachment's configuration and are governed by Att. D. They shall be processed solely for identification, package formation and administration, access, and safety, in compliance with the principles of lawfulness, purpose limitation, data minimization, accuracy, storage limitation, and data protection. Diagnoses, disabilities, allergies, treatments, and any other health data do not belong in this configuration and, where strictly necessary, are handled exclusively through Att. H and the protected channels required by Att. D.

Identity documents, health data, biometric data, and any other special-category data or sensitive material may not be sent by ordinary email, SMS, chat, WhatsApp, social networks, or public links. They may be acquired only through the protected channel authorized by Att. D, with role-based access, logging, defined retention periods, and deletion. If the protected channel is unavailable or Atts. D and H are incomplete, transmission does not take place and the package remains non-operational.

The configuration states the verified date of birth and first relevant operational date. The system derives age, the applicable age band, and the eighteenth-birthday date exclusively from those facts; those projections are not declarations, editable fields, or independently persisted data. The operational date serves solely to apply the minor regime and does not identify arrival, delivery, or duration of any real-estate presence.

B1.3 Powers of representation

Parental responsibility is exercised under Arts. 316 and 320 of the Italian Civil Code. Parents jointly represent the child in civil acts; ordinary acts may be performed separately only within the limits of Art. 320, which excludes contracts granting or acquiring personal rights of enjoyment from that rule. Where a separate instrument in the dossier grants access, use, stay, or another personal right of enjoyment, both parents must therefore sign unless exclusive exercise of parental responsibility or another suitable title is documented. This Attachment B does not itself grant those rights.

A guardian exercises the functions of care, representation in civil acts, and administration under Art. 357 of the Italian Civil Code, within the limits of the appointment order and the authorizations required by Art. 374. A foster carer, placement carer, family member other than a parent, or another adult may sign only within the powers arising from the law and the specific order produced; ordinary powers recognized for school or medical relationships do not automatically extend to execution of this package.

Separation, divorce, shared custody, primary placement, or cohabitation with only one parent does not by itself confer exclusive exercise of Parental Responsibility or dispense with the other parent's signature where required. Exclusive exercise, suspension or loss of the other parent's authority, death, guardianship, or any different arrangement must be established by a certificate, current order, or other legally suitable evidence reviewed for the specific act. A delegation for travel, accompaniment, collection, or ordinary care is not equivalent to general authority for contractual representation.

If the title is limited, disputed, expired, conditional, or unverifiable, the package does not become operational. The Company may require certificates, orders, consent of the other parent, authorization from the guardianship judge, or professional advice before accepting the signature; such verification does not imply assumption of responsibility for the completeness of the declared title.

The configuration records separately the type of authority relied upon, the number of required adult signatures, the documents reviewed, the verification date, any validity end date, and the competent-review reference. All three outcomes—"evidence verified", "evidence current", and "authority sufficient for the specific act"—must be positive. An adult's own statement, an irrelevant certificate, a practical delegation, or merely selecting an option does not satisfy these controls.

B1.4 Embedded substitute declaration

The substitute declaration of deed of notoriety identified by code Dsan1B-01-_____ forms an integral part of the copy issued to the individual adult declarant. The Company agrees to receive it under Art. 2 of Presidential Decree 445/2000. It contains contractual statements and, only for personal status, qualities, and facts within the declarant's direct knowledge and within the scope of the consolidated act, declarations under Arts. 46 and 47. It creates no nonexistent authority and replaces no legally required document, consent, order, or authorization. Where more than one adult must sign, each adult makes a separate Dsan1B, with an individual code and Sign1, in that adult's linked copy.

The declarant's identity is drawn from the personal and identification details already stated in the Principal Document and its Sign1 Form; the Minor's identity is drawn from the verified data in this attachment's configuration. Dsan1B-01-_____ reuses those data and introduces no duplicate personal-detail fields. The declaration has no autonomous signature: it is executed exclusively through the Sign1 Form of the Minor's Legal Representative, which must identify it by code and include it in the list of executed documents.

Arts. 75 and 76 of Presidential Decree 445/2000 operate only in the cases and with the effects provided by law. Art. 75 concerns benefits resulting from an administrative measure based on the declaration and does not, by itself, constitute a general termination clause for the private relationship. Clerical errors, information that becomes inaccurate after signature, and changes notified promptly are not automatically treated as false declarations. Any contractual remedies remain separate, specific, and proportionate; criminal findings, classification, and consequences belong exclusively to the competent authority.

Nature and effect of the declaration. This block contains contractual statements and representations. Only statements concerning personal status, qualities, and facts within the declarant's direct knowledge, and only within the personal and material scope in which D.P.R. no. 445 of 28 December 2000 applies, are made under Arts. 38, 46, and 47 of that consolidated act. The consequences under Arts. 75 and 76 apply only where provided by law. Legal assessments, interpretations, and contractual representations remain such. The declaration is executed exclusively through the Sign1 designated by the Principal Document, which must identify its code; no autonomous date, place, or signature fields are provided. The Italian version is official.

- II. that the minor to whom this declaration relates is _____, born on _____ in _____, _____, as shown by verification reference _____;
- III. that the relationship with the minor, legal basis, extent, and any limits of representative authority correspond to the following: _____;
- IV. that parental responsibility is exercised and signature is provided in compliance with Arts. 316 and 320 of the Italian Civil Code, or that authority arises from the specific title produced under Arts. 357 and 374 or another applicable provision, as specified here: _____;
- V. that, to the declarant's direct knowledge, no orders, forfeitures, suspensions, conflicts, prohibitions, or limits incompatible with signature exist and that all relevant documents or orders have been identified as follows: _____;
- VI. to understand that this declaration attests only statuses, personal qualities, and facts permitted by Arts. 46 and 47 of D.P.R. 445/2000, creates no nonexistent authority, and does not replace the other parent's consent or any legally required order or authorization;
- VII. that the first operational date stated in the configuration and any future programme represent, on the signature date, the current plan directly known to the declarant and not certification of a future fact;
- VIII. to undertake to report immediately every change in authority, programme, contact details, availability, or orders concerning the minor and to assume personally the economic, organizational, and taking-charge obligations validly provided under Att. B.;
- IX. to execute this declaration exclusively through their Sign1, in which code Dsan1B-01-_____ must appear among the documents included in the execution.

B1.5 Matrix of copies and Sign1 forms

Where the minor is the principal person, corresponding document copies must be prepared with identical substantive text and identical attachment list: one copy for each adult whose signature is required and one copy for the minor. Each adult copy contains only that adult's personal data, states the adult's capacity, embeds that adult's Dsan1B, and is executed through that adult's Sign1; the minor copy contains the minor's details and is normally executed through the minor's Sign1. If both parents sign, two adult signing objects and a minor copy with its own acknowledgement object are therefore required, unless the exceptional substitute path has been validly activated. Codes, date, version, and document fingerprints must unambiguously link all copies to the same relationship.

Each adult signs in the permitted representative capacity and, separately, in their own name for the deposit, payments, reimbursement solely of direct, necessary, reasonable, documented costs, intervention duty, taking charge, compensation, and every other expressly stated and validly applicable personal obligation. The minor's signature serves as acknowledgement, understanding, and behavioral undertaking compatible with age and discernment; it does not replace the required adult signatures, cure defects in representation, or impose unauthorized patrimonial obligations, guarantees, penalties, or waivers on the minor.

Each adult copy and its Dsan1B are executed through the Sign1 of that same adult. The Minor's copy is executed through a separate Sign1 issued to the Minor, unless age or a concrete inability makes such execution meaningless and, before activation, an individualized reason, documented professional approval, and the adult's attestation that an age-appropriate explanation was provided have been obtained. The substitute path is not the Minor's signature, may not be used to override an intelligible objection by the Minor, and does not apply to acts requiring the Minor's personal expression. If any required copy, signature, attestation, or approval is missing, a link cannot be verified, the substantive texts differ, or a Sign1 does not fully identify its signing object, no access is authorized. An Accompanied Minor must still have a specific instance issued to the Minor: the Accompanying Adult's package does not automatically extend its effects to the Minor.

B1.6 Special Capacity of an Author Aged Sixteen or Over

By way of exception only to the documentary rule under which the Minor's signature ordinarily serves as acknowledgement and behavioral undertaking, an Author Aged Sixteen or Over personally performs acts relating to the Economic Rights and Moral Rights in works they created, within the limits of Art. 108 of Law 633/1941. Where Att. G includes a transfer or licence of rights in such a work, the Sign1 issued to the Minor must also identify Att. G, and the Minor's signature operates, for that act alone, as the personal exercise of the special statutory capacity. The adult's signature does not replace that expression.

The Adult Subscriber continues to sign for representation, safety, access, and patrimonial obligations validly imposed on that adult by law or the package. Any consideration due to the author and its administration must be handled under law, Att. F, and the package rules, without converting special capacity into a waiver of mandatory remuneration. For an author under sixteen, ordinary rules on representation, authorization, and patrimonial protection continue to apply.

B1.7 Interpretation of roles in the package

In the Adult Subscriber's copy, the general personal and identification details of the Signatory belong to the adult who signs. The Principal Minor's details instead belong exclusively to this attachment's configuration and identify the person benefiting from personal permissions and subject to the rules of conduct. This documentary allocation does not replace, confuse, or duplicate the identities and must be preserved in every linked copy, configuration, and form.

Unless the text by its nature concerns a declaration, signature, payment, guarantee, patrimonial liability, adult intervention, or Taking Charge, every reference to the Signatory in the Principal Document or other attachments means the Principal Minor for personal conduct, validly granted operational permissions, keys, credentials, prohibitions, and safety orders. Any real-estate right remains instead referable and limited to the separate instrument governing it. Where performance may validly be rendered only by the adult, the reference means the Adult Subscriber. In the event of conflict or uncertainty, the interpretation preserving required representation, imposing no patrimonial obligation on the Minor, and applying the strictest safety measure to the Minor prevails.

B1.8 Adult's personal obligations

The Minor's Legal Representative assumes in their own name the economic, organizational, and intervention obligations stated in this attachment. These obligations are autonomous from representation of the minor and include availability, immediate cooperation, collection or taking charge, payment of sums due, and compensation for damage attributable under law and contract, without prejudice to Art. 2048 of the Italian Civil Code where its conditions are met.

Clauses limiting liability, allowing suspension or withdrawal, providing forfeitures or penalties must be specifically approved by the adult in the cases governed by Arts. 1341 and 1342 of the Italian Civil Code. Specific approval does not make a void or unfair clause effective: Art. 1229 of the Italian Civil Code and, where the relationship is between a professional and a consumer, Arts. 33–36 of Legislative Decree no. 206 of 6 September 2005 remain applicable.

Art. B2 - Special Coordination and Mandatory Limits

B2.1 Coordination rule and fail-closed stop

Where this attachment applies, it supplements the Principal Document and the attachments governing their respective subject matters with the special safeguards of the minor regime. It does not replace the requirements of Att. D for data, Att. F for sums, Att. H for health and coverage, Att. L for systems, Att. M for tools and activities, or Att. T for term. A general precedence formula does not cure contradictions, omissions, or incompatible configurations.

The express special rules in the following paragraphs limit only the branch to which they refer and always operate within mandatory-law limits. If cumulative checks detect an unresolved conflict between documents, a subject-matter attachment fails its own gates, or the package assigns prohibited obligations or risks to the Minor, the entire package remains non-operational and not ready for signature until written correction, renewed validation and, where required, professional review.

No checkbox, note, informal permission, delivery of assets, message, tolerance, practice, or later generic document may derogate from this regime. A later instrument may introduce only additional safeguards or stricter restrictions and must expressly refer to this attachment, be signed by the Company and all legally entitled adults, and comply with mandatory law.

B2.2 Precedence over Att. F

The deposit, every replenishment, and every payment relating to the minor package must come from a bank account held or jointly held by the Minor's Legal Representative or another adult who has assumed the same personal obligations in writing. The Company does not accept cash, untraceable payments, payments made directly by the minor, or unidentified sources, unless a different method is required by law.

The deposit is managed exclusively in the relationship with the obligated adult: receipts, replenishment requests, objections, permitted set-offs, and refunds are addressed to the adult, and the refund is made to the adult account from which the deposit originated, unless a written lawful instruction is accepted by the Company. No monetary exchanges, refunds, loans, advances, or deliveries of money are permitted between the Company and the minor.

Withholdings and set-offs remain subject to the conditions of Att. F, proof of the claim, and mandatory limits. In the event of a new adult package after the eighteenth birthday, the deposit may be transferred only with the Company's written acceptance, consent of the person entitled to it, and prior accounting of pendencies under the minor regime.

B2.3 Precedence over Att. M

The minor is prohibited from using, holding, carrying, cleaning, assembling, disassembling, testing, or taking delivery of any tool, implement, machine, device, ladder, or sharp, heavy, unstable, hot, electrical, or mechanical material. The prohibition is absolute and applies regardless of being over sixteen, declared experience, technical competence, adult presence, creative or educational purpose, selected set, available manual, loan for use, Hobby/DIY permission, or other apparent authorization.

Worksites, maintenance, free-building works, repairs, extraordinary cleaning, handling, agricultural or forestry activities, workshops, warehouses, and do-it-yourself projects presenting even minimal risk are prohibited. An adult authorized under Att. M may not involve the minor, receive assistance, hand over tools, allow demonstrations, or operate near the minor where effective physical separation from the risk is not guaranteed.

A breach constitutes an essential default and triggers the consequences provided in this article and Att. T. No authorization under Att. M may be invoked to reduce the minor prohibition.

B2.4 Precedence over Att. L

In every area where the minor is lawfully present under a separate instrument or permission, any disconnection of the electrical supply required by Att. L must be performed or verified by a competent person and may not disable emergency lighting, alarms, fire-safety devices, necessary ventilation, or other mandatory safeguards. If the premises do not allow safe and documentable electrical conditions, the minor's operational permission for that area is not activated.

B2.5 Systems, Electricity and Heat

The minor may not insert or remove plugs, connect chargers, use sockets, extensions, adapters, multi-socket strips, transformers, panels, technical switches, appliances, or heating devices. The minor may not light, fuel, supervise, regulate, or extinguish heaters, fireplaces, stoves, hot plates, candles, barbecues, open flames, cylinders, or gas valves. No fire or heat source may be entrusted to the minor's control or responsibility, even in the presence of an adult.

An adult may use a system or heat source only if authorized by the applicable attachments, retaining direct and exclusive control and preventing any contact by the minor. The minor's presence always makes the stricter solution prevail.

B2.6 Precedence over Att. T

Compliance with prohibitions, area limits, accompaniment duties, availability arrangements, and safety orders constitutes an essential obligation. Under Art. 1456 of the Italian Civil Code, the Company may declare its intention to rely on the express termination clause where use of or contact with tools, entry into a prohibited area, intervention on systems, handling of fire or heat, failure to take charge, concealment of the minor, departure from the permitted area, refusal, or delay in following an order is intentional or repeated, creates a concrete and documented risk, or materially obstructs safety measures. A minimal delay, a misunderstanding promptly corrected, or a breach lacking concrete seriousness does not by itself result in immediate termination.

In addition to termination for breach, the Company applies the ordinary notice period under Att. T. It may suspend operational permissions or terminate the minor package immediately by traceable notice only where there is a concrete and documented risk concerning safety, adult availability, effective separation from hazards, an authority order, or supervening legal impossibility. The notice identifies the fact and urgent measure adopted; good faith, proportionality, and Arts. 33–36 of Legislative Decree 206/2005 remain applicable where relevant. This power does not authorize abandonment of the minor or material self-help contrary to law.

Following the urgent notice, the Minor's Legal Representative must intervene or arrange intervention by an authorized adult within the stated period, organizing safe handover. Failure may result exclusively in a charge for direct, necessary, documented, and reasonably incurred costs borne by the Company, provided that they are validly attributable to the adult and open to challenge under law. This attachment introduces no penalties, lump-sum amounts, or charges based on nights or duration of presence. The Company must nevertheless protect the minor from immediate danger and, if the adult does not intervene, may contact emergency services or the competent authority; this does not make the Company a foster carer or extend the separate instrument legitimizing access or presence.

Term upon reaching majority. By amendment of and precedence over Att. T, for the Principal Minor the beginning of the eighteenth-birthday day constitutes the essential final term solely of the minor documentary regime. From that moment, operational permissions based on the minor package end without conversion, renewal, or tacit continuation; subsequent majority does not retroactively cure signature or representation defects and does not alter the effects of any separate real-estate instrument.

Continuation requires a new adult package prepared, executed by the person who has become an adult through the corresponding Sign1, and accepted by the Company before the term. The deposit may continue only under Att. F and this article. Obligations, reimbursement of documented costs, and liabilities accrued before majority and validly assumed personally by the adult remain unaffected.

If the dossier links Attachment B instances concerning other minors, the eighteenth birthday of the Minor Subject of this Instance terminates this instance only. The other individual instances remain autonomous while their respective condition persists; the person who has become an adult does not automatically become the Legal Representative or Accompanying Adult of the other minors.

B2.7 Safety orders

Any staff member, representative, appointee, or authorized collaborator of the Company may issue additional and stricter safety orders than the written rules where required by the concrete situation. The order must be followed immediately; clarifications and objections may be raised only after the risk has been neutralized and the minor placed in a safe condition.

Authority to issue the order does not give the individual staff member a general assignment of custody or accompaniment. The Minor's Legal Representative remains obliged to cooperate, intervene, and take charge of the minor when requested.

B2.8 Reference to Att. H

Matters reserved to Att. H and Att. D must be configured and signed in the corresponding documents. This attachment and Dsan1B do not collect or duplicate data belonging to that perimeter. Every operational permission for the minor remains suspended until the Minor's Legal Representative has completed the declarations and emergency plan required by Att. H, with only the strictly necessary level of detail and through the protected channels provided by Att. D. Compliance does not constitute a real-estate title.

The reference to Att. H does not transfer to the Company duties beyond those expressly accepted and mandatory duties. Any service, assistance, or taking charge not expressly accepted in writing remains excluded; activation of emergency responders remains required within the limits of law.

The existence of an insurance policy, public coverage, promoter coverage, or allegedly substitute protection neither transfers nor reduces mandatory duties and does not make an unsafe activity or premises safe. Before any access, the Company must complete the individual assessment identified in the Configuration of this attachment, distinguishing at least Accepted Health Coverage, personal accident coverage, any cover specific to a separate employment or training relationship, and, only where expressly activated, host legal-expenses cover. Attachment B does not automatically require third-party civil-liability cover; any cover required by a different relationship or by law remains unaffected.

Where the assessment requires personal accident coverage for the Minor, every physical permission remains suspended until Att. H records verified person-specific cover for the Minor, Italian territory, the entire period, and permitted activities, including insured events and benefits, limits, deductibles, exclusions, and the claims procedure. The cover protects the person within the policy terms: it does not guarantee payment, replace healthcare, emergency response, or safety duties, or predetermine liability.

Host legal-expenses cover is an exceptional requirement of the individual instance and applies only if this attachment's Configuration records it as effective. Before finalization, a professional-review reference and written confirmation from the insurer or authorized intermediary must be obtained, identifying the policyholder, insured parties, the capacity in which the Company, its legal representative, and any staff members are insured by name or by a determinable class, the civil, criminal, administrative proceedings or compensation claims actually included, territory, period, limit, deductible, exclusions, waiting periods, notification procedure, conflicts of interest, and freedom to choose counsel where provided.

Payment of the premium by the Adult Subscriber alone does not establish that proceedings brought by that person or the Minor against an insured party are covered. That specific event must be expressly confirmed in the insurance evidence; otherwise the requirement cannot be selected as operative. The premium is paid directly to an authorized insurer or intermediary unless a separate lawful and transparent arrangement applies; no amount is characterized as consideration for waiving an action or funding a defense outside the policy.

Legal-expenses insurance funds only the services included in the policy and does not restrict the right to bring or defend proceedings, condition reports or complaints, make one party's account conclusive, transfer liability, or cover sanctions, criminal fines, intentional conduct, or other excluded or uninsurable risks. Its existence does not affect the Minor's rights, personal criminal liability, the Company's or staff's own civil liability, or mandatory duties of safety, assistance, and cooperation with authorities.

For every required branch, documents and written confirmations from the competent party must be obtained through the Protected Channel and identified by the reference stated in the Configuration; they must identify the insured persons and entities, territory, dates, covered activities or proceedings, benefits and limits, deductibles, waiting periods and relevant exclusions, and the claims procedure. Brochures, photographs of generic policies, premium summaries, payment receipts, or statements by the interested person alone do not establish that coverage is operative or adequate for the named parties.

The Minor may not access an active worksite, premises with unverified electrical or heating systems, areas not separated from works, or places with known hazards that have not been eliminated or confined. An inspection, statement, release, photograph, or premises-condition record serves evidentiary purposes only and is not a technical certification, waiver of rights, or cure of safety defects. Access remains suspended until relevant technical evidence and an organizational review document a safe perimeter.

Collection, use, or dissemination of the Minor's image, voice, video, profiles, or content is disabled by default and is not a condition of access. Any consent must be separate, optional, and granular as to purpose, channel, recipients, duration, and content type, managed under Att. D, and signed by every legally entitled adult unless a different title is documented. The Minor must still be heard according to age and maturity, revocation must be simple, and the Minor's best interests must be concretely reviewed before each publication.

Art. B3 - Authorized Stay without Accompaniment

B3.1 Nature of the authorization

Authorized Stay without Continuous Accompaniment indicates presence without continuous accompaniment and is not equivalent to emancipation, entrustment to the Company, or recognition of legal self-sufficiency. It is an exceptional, personal, revocable permission subject to all conditions of this attachment and does not constitute a right of the minor or the Minor's Legal Representative.

As an organizational and precautionary Company policy, an arrangement without continuous accompaniment may be considered only for a Minor who has already reached sixteen on the first relevant operational date. For anyone under sixteen, that arrangement is always excluded under this regime and no exception, substitute reasoning, or automatic conversion is permitted: the accompanied arrangement or another previously verified and documented framework is required. This threshold is a stricter Company policy and does not state that every different situation automatically constitutes a criminal offence.

Being over sixteen does not result in automatic acceptance. The Company decides case by case based on observable maturity, duration, premises, hours, adult availability and response time, separation from hazards, documented coverage, and organizational capacity; where a worksite, unverified systems, or other unmitigated risks exist, the arrangement is not activated.

B3.2 Conditions precedent

Before access, the following must be completed: identification and date of birth; every required adult copy and the minor copy, linked to each other; corresponding Sign1 forms and Dsan1B declarations; proof of authority for each adult signatory; deposit from an adult account, where applicable; configuration of the attachments; individual plan; emergency contacts; documented person-specific coverage; verification of the safe perimeter; and identification of an adult who is actually reachable and capable of reaching the premises in useful time. All conditions are cumulative.

The individual plan serves exclusively organizational and minor-safety purposes. It does not deliver real estate, grant possession or enjoyment, guarantee availability or duration of a stay, or replace any separate real-estate title and its form and registration duties. Dates, times, and areas stated in it operate only as safety conditions and limits where access is separately and validly authorized.

The individual plan must establish arrival, departure, transfers, overnight stays, permitted areas, hours, methods and frequency of contact with the adult, procedures for failure to respond, persons authorized to take charge, alternative contact details, and the return route. It must also state who bears travel, emergency, and recovery costs and how the adult's availability is ensured throughout the stay.

Keys or credentials are delivered only after the Company's written confirmation. The minor may not duplicate, transfer, lend, use them to introduce third parties, or access spaces other than those expressly authorized. Loss, failure to return, or misuse results in immediate suspension.

B3.3 No guaranteed accompaniment

The Company does not guarantee daily accompaniment, personal supervision, continuous staff presence, transport, care, wake-up service, schedule monitoring, meal preparation, or individual assistance. The Minor's Legal Representative retains organizational duties and must ascertain before signature that the minor is practically able to comply with the plan without such services.

The absence of a general supervision assignment does not eliminate mandatory duties, obligations arising from activities actually undertaken, or the duty to act on a known danger. Staff may carry out reasonable checks on access and area compliance, but such checks do not turn the relationship into continuous custody.

B3.4 Permitted areas

The Minor may be present only in the areas expressly identified by the separate instrument or permission lawfully enabling access and confirmed as safe in the configuration. This attachment assigns no room. Worksites, technical rooms, plant compartments and panels, storage areas, warehouses, workshops, maintenance or reorganization areas, roofs, unsupervised terraces, non-ordinary ladders or stairs, poorly lit zones, third-party spaces, and every area containing tools, materials, or works are always prohibited.

The Company may restrict the permitted perimeter without notice due to works, weather conditions, presence of third parties, faults, order, safety, or organizational needs. The minor must immediately move to the indicated area; the Minor's Legal Representative must arrange an alternative solution if the restriction prevents the stay.

B3.5 Operational prohibitions

The prohibitions in Art. B2 apply in full: no tools, systems, fire, heat sources, DIY projects, maintenance, extraordinary cleaning, handling, or manual activity. The Minor may not open technical compartments, move heavy furniture, climb ladders or chairs, intervene on locks, fire-safety devices, windows, balconies, gates, vehicles, or Company assets not delivered for passive personal use.

Any anomaly, smell of burning or gas, spark, leak, cable, socket, lock, window, unstable object, or unauthorized access must be reported immediately. Reporting does not authorize any material intervention; the minor must move away and await instructions in a safe place.

B3.6 Creative and educational activities

This attachment does not authorize employment, internship, apprenticeship, volunteering, collaboration, professional services, or exchange between activities and the stay. Skills in graphic design, communication, information technology, or other subjects do not allow the Company to assign production targets, deadlines, shifts, accounts, credentials, client responsibilities, or operational access.

A work or educational activity may begin only under a separate lawful written instrument after verification of age and education requirements, Law no. 977 of 17 October 1967, Legislative Decree no. 81 of 9 April 2008, and every other applicable rule. Calling the activity a hobby, help, trial, favor, or experience does not exclude mandatory rules where its concrete content corresponds to a relationship regulated by law.

Through AllB, the Minor receives no production quotas, marketing targets, or assignments to create photographs, videos, reels, stories, or other content for the Company. Any special capacity of an Author Aged Sixteen or Over concerns legal acts relating to works they created within statutory limits and is not a basis for organizing a service. Any promotional activity requires a separate lawful framework and, separately, the privacy and image permissions required by Art. B2.

B3.7 Contacts and checks

The minor must comply with scheduled contact times and respond without delay to safety communications. Failure to respond beyond the stated time authorizes staff to check access, contact the Minor's Legal Representative, suspend authorization, and, where there is a concrete risk, activate emergency services.

The Minor's Legal Representative must keep telephone and contact details active, report absences or impediments, and arrange a previously authorized substitute. The adult's unavailability, even temporarily, permits immediate termination of the unaccompanied arrangement and triggers the duty to take charge.

B3.8 Termination and taking charge

Every safety order is immediately binding. Breach of the plan, prohibitions, hours, areas, or communications constitutes grounds for termination under Art. B2. The Company may also revoke the unaccompanied arrangement where it no longer intends to bear the related organizational risk, within the limits and by the methods established in the same article.

The Minor's Legal Representative must intervene or arrange intervention by the authorized adult within the communicated deadline. The Company may seek reimbursement only for direct, reasonable, documented costs validly attributable to failure to Take Charge; any other economic consequence must arise under a separate applicable instrument and remains subject to law and proportionality review. The Company may not leave the Minor in an unsafe place: until handover it may restrict movement, separate the Minor from danger, and request authority intervention, without this renewing the package or constituting voluntary entrustment.

No clause transfers, excludes, or predetermines criminal liability, which remains personal and is classified exclusively by the competent authority. Termination of the relationship, suspension of access, or an adult's failure to intervene never authorizes abandonment, removal to an unsafe place, or unverified handover. In the event of a missing person, incapacity, danger, or need for assistance, the help concretely possible in safety is provided and the 112 service or competent authority is notified immediately, where the conditions of Arts. 591 and 593 of the Italian Criminal Code apply, before any merely contractual remedy.

Art. B4 - Accompanied Minor

B4.1 Scope of the regime

The Accompanied Minor regime applies where an Accompanying Adult is physically present and undertakes continuous accompaniment during access, stay, and departure. The adult's presence does not grant the Minor autonomous rights and does not reduce the prohibitions in Art. B2.

The Minor must have a separate package issued and identified with their own details, linked to the adult copies but legally distinguishable. The adult's package, a booking, invitation, message, or mere physical presence does not authorize the Minor. For a Principal Minor, all Sign1 forms required by the matrix in Art. B1 remain necessary.

B4.2 Accompanying adult

The accompanying adult must be the Minor's Legal Representative or must have been previously designated in writing by that representative and accepted by the Company. Acceptance of the accompanying adult does not confer legal representation, decision-making powers, or authority to amend the package; such powers remain with the legally entitled person.

The adult must maintain direct control over the minor's location, prevent entry into prohibited zones, explain and enforce orders, intervene immediately, and accompany the minor out of the premises when requested. The adult may not informally entrust the minor to residents, guests, community members, or staff.

B4.3 Continuity of accompaniment

An accompanied minor may not be left alone, even briefly. A different arrangement may be assessed only through a new configuration concerning a person who has already reached sixteen, after full verification of the conditions governing Authorized Stay without Continuous Accompaniment and the Company's written acceptance; no automatic conversion applies. The adult's absence, unavailability, or departure without the minor immediately suspends the minor's access.

A replacement accompanying adult must be notified before it occurs, with identity, contact details, duration, and acceptance of the rules. The Company may refuse it where it lacks sufficient time or information to verify it. No private emergency of the adult obliges the Company to assume accompaniment or custody.

B4.4 Areas and stay

The accompanied minor may access only the areas named in the configuration and always together with the adult. The adult's access to an area does not automatically authorize the minor. Work-sites, technical rooms, storage areas, warehouses, workshops, work areas, roofs, unsupervised terraces, isolated outdoor areas, and other users' spaces remain prohibited.

If a separate lawful instrument permits an overnight stay, AllB governs only its safeguards and the room must comply with the electrical, heating, and safety regime in Art. B2; AllB does not constitute that instrument. If the Minor is present only temporarily, the separate permission applies solely to the stated date, time, and route, and every extension requires new written confirmation in the appropriate instrument.

B4.5 Prohibitions and risk separation

The adult's presence does not allow the minor to use tools, systems, sockets, fire, heat, machines, ladders, materials, or devices. Demonstrations, guided trials, manual assistance, and supervised use remain prohibited. The adult must stop their own authorized activity where the minor cannot be physically separated from the area and the risk.

The minor may not be tasked with carrying objects, cleaning, arranging tools, supervising a heat source, opening technical doors, taking photographs in prohibited areas, or performing activities presented as educational. The adult is contractually responsible for preventing such conduct and must follow every separation order issued by staff.

B4.6 Signatures and awareness

The Minor's Legal Representative executes the package and that adult's Dsan1B through their Sign1 under Art. B1. The Minor normally executes their own copy through a separate Sign1. The exceptional substitute path is permitted only subject to the documentary and professional conditions and respect for the Minor's wishes established in the copies matrix; it does not reduce adult obligations or replace personal acts required by law.

The minor's signature does not authorize an unaccompanied stay. Moving from the accompanied regime to the unaccompanied regime requires a new configuration, age verification, individual plan, and the Company's express acceptance.

B4.7 Transfers and safe handover

Arrival, departure, and every external transfer remain organized and funded by the obligated adult. The minor must be handed directly between previously identified and authorized adults; collection by unverified persons, unaccompanied departure, unattended waiting, informal lifts, or entrustment to drivers and services not identified in the plan are not permitted. The time, place, and identity of the person taking charge must be notified sufficiently in advance and confirmed in traceable form.

The Company does not provide transport, escort, custody during travel, or general verification of vehicle suitability unless a specific written assignment exists. Delays, cancellations, missed connections, or unavailability of the accompanying adult do not transfer such tasks to staff. The adult must arrange a viable alternative and maintain the financial resources, documents, and contact details required for return; every plan change requires confirmation before the minor leaves the safe area.

Handover may be suspended where the attending adult is not the authorized person, cannot be identified, appears unable to ensure a safe return, or demands arrangements inconsistent with the plan. In that situation the Company may contact the Minor's Legal Representative, another previously authorized adult, emergency services, or the competent authority. Temporary presence necessary to prevent danger does not renew the package, constitute voluntary entrustment, or remove taking-charge duties and applicable economic consequences.

Where several Minors are present, each person must have a separate AllB instance and a separate verification of identity, arrangement, representation, accompanying adult, coverage, and handover. Authorization concerning one Minor does not extend to others, and majority, departure, or termination concerning one of them does not automatically alter the position of the others.

B4.8 Orders and termination

Every member of Authorized Personnel may issue additional safety orders to the Minor and adult. Refusal, delay, circumvention, discussion obstructing safety measures, failure to supervise, or failure to leave constitutes an essential default and permits immediate termination under Art. B2.

Upon termination, the adult present must immediately accompany the Minor out of the premises and arrange a safe return. If the adult refuses or leaves the Minor in the premises beyond the communicated deadline, the Minor's Legal Representative remains bound to Take Charge and to reimburse only direct, reasonable, documented costs validly attributable to the adult's conduct; any other economic consequence must arise under a separate applicable instrument and remains subject to law and proportionality review.

Termination of the accompanying adult's package simultaneously terminates the minor's authorization unless another authorized adult already exists and the Company confirms continuity in writing. Termination does not permit abandonment or removal to an unsafe place; in the absence of cooperation, the Company may activate emergency services or the competent authority.

B4.9 End of the accompanied regime

The accompanied regime ends on the authorized date or time, upon termination of the adult's package, upon Company revocation, when accompaniment ceases, or when the minor reaches eighteen. Material presence beyond the term does not produce renewal or an autonomous right.

If the accompanied minor becomes an adult and intends to continue accessing the premises, they must have a new adult package accepted before the term. Reaching majority terminates this individual instance without affecting any other Attachment B instances linked to the dossier.
